

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 2011

ON THE FRINGE: Savage/Love and Tongues

The Fringe provides a platform for seldom-seen work, like Sam Shepard and Joseph Chaikin's Savage/Love and Tongues, two monologues that together run less than an hour. Russ Widdall performs both with intensity and humor, partnered with (not just "accompanied by") Mike "DJ Butterface" Bazini, who provides a fascinating continuous soundscape that makes these late-'70s abstractions feel modern, completing director Ryder Thornton's seamless bond of words, motion, and sound. Beautifully lit and intimately set, they're a soaring soul plunge.

Through Sept 17, $20, Symmetry Dance Studio, 1923 Chestnut St.

Posted by Mark Cofta @ 1:50 PM Permalink | On the Fringe | Post a comment

<http://www.citypaper.net/blogs/criticalmass/ON-THE-FRINGE-SavageLove-and-Tongues.html>